"THE Head of the Interpretation Department" that is to be, is a position about which much misapprehension has been needlessly caused, and a few words of explanation may not be out of place. As Governor Hennessy has found Dr morning for Hongkong. Eitel to be an invaluable aid to him. especially now that the Governor is at arm's length with most of his officials. no efforts have been made of late to hurry on the development of the Interpretation Department. Our readers will say a week or so later. remember the entry in Whitaker's Almanac, which contained the information that the post of "Chinese Secretary" at Amoy on the morning of the 30th in tow was filled by Dr Eitel, and that the of the S. This is the position; and the only explanation vouchsafed is that it was impossible to complete the definite arrangements for the Interpretorial Department, as the Chief Justice and others had to be consulted in many matters! There is not a word here as to for two or three days. Mr Plunket, we are the main reason why justice has not been done to Dr. Eitel and the Public Service, and the Interpretorial scheme has not been begun to be carried out. Not a syllable of explanation is given as to the reason why the Secretary of State asked for further information as to how the hybrid office which Governor Hennessy sought to establish would influence the Colonial Secretary's Department. > MR J. J. Francis has retired from the Magisterial Bench on the Hon. C. B. Plunket's return to the Colony. As we before remarked, these acting appointments are mere matters of arrangement between the officials going on leave and obliging friends and approved by the Governor. No salary choice is not from the Government in the first place. Mr Francis, acting for Mr till Mr Plunket's return, when Mr Plunket would as a matter of course take the position of Acting Senior Police Magistrate. Mr Francis' resignation has therefore been accepted, and he has not been on the Bench sorry to hear, is not able to resume his post, being worse rather than better by his trip. On the Hon. Mr Ng Choy, therefore, who has been asked to continue in harness although the gentleman for whom he officiated has returned, there now falls the whole of the Magistrates' work. This condition of things is rather anomolous, the only Magistrate in the Colony being a gentleman not in the Service, he receiving no emolument whatever for his services, and he a Chinese. Mr Gregory will probably have some additional questions to ask of Her Majesty's other point is this, that the Hon. Ng Choy is a Barrister at Law with a growing pracsuch a business to attend to, he can give that were often hard pressed for. WRITING regarding the recent accident to the Iron Duke, the Japan Gazette has one of those neat and graceful little paragraphs, manifestly the outcome of a really good English heart, with which its pleasant pages so often bristle :--We take the liberty of expressing the grateful acknowledgments of the English residents of Japan for the timely and energetic aid rendered by the French men of war to the Iron Duke, and their deep regret that such generous assistance spontaneously given should have resulted in serious damage to so fine a vessel as the Champlain.

Every thought nl action of the kind goes far to increase the feeling of respect and mutual esteem that has arisen between France and Great Britain during the last ten years; and though thanks are but words they sometimes, in this instance cartainly, possess the merit of sincerity. We do not omit a word of thanks to the Japanese and Russian vessels who volunteered their valuable assistance. The Hamburg correspondent of the L. & O. Express, writing under date July 20th,

The vessel is still in comparatively good condition, and very strongly built, and the trials will be of the greatest laterest to all seafaring nations. At first it was intended to use the old Gestion fri- ... gate as a target, the vessel which was taken by the German batteries in the Bay of Eckernfirde in April, 1850, but the Government wishes to save the frigate as a relie of

MARRIAGES ON BOARD

AMERICAN SHIPS. THERE has arisen somehow or other a notion which is now very widely prevalent amongst Americans, particularly those who "go down to the sea in ships," that the Captain of any vessel sailing under the Stars and Stripes can bind in holy matrimony at sea, any man to any woman on board, if they are willing to have each other for life. This is a fallacy, and the sooner it is generally known to be such the better for all concerned. Such sham marriages are productive of much misunderstanding, and often bring, in future years, misery and shame on the innocent fruits of the union. Such so-called marriages are no more legal ceremonies. are no more binding on the one party nor the other, than that extraordinary General (Jon. E. L. JE SUIS AMERICAIN.

["When it shall be heard as the proudest exclamation of man 'I am an American citizen." -Daniel Webster.

He got to Paris late at night, So tired he couldn't stand, He had three valises by his side, A guide book in his hand. He'd singled out a hackman from The crowd. Said he " My man, Just drive me to the hest hetel, Je suis Americam."

The Jehu drove him to the Grand By course circuitous. And charged a price which was-well, by No means gratuitous, The stranger said; then registered, And to the clerk began : " I want the best room in the house-Je suis Americam."

They showed him up to twenty blank. Upon the parlor floor; Two candles on the mantle piece, A gill plate on the door; But, ere he slept, he mased, and thus His lucubrations ran: "To-morrow I'll make Paris how! --Je suis Americain."

And make it " how! " he did indeed. From Concorde to Bastille, From Madelcine to Luxembourg. He raced, and at Mabillo Wound up the day. But, when a fair Smiled from behind her fan Seductively, " No, no," said he: Je suis Americain.

Next day be to the summit of The Arc of Triomphe hied. " Vell, vat you zink of zis?" inquired A Frenchman at his side. Je suis americain."

Into a gilded restaurant He chanced to drop, one day; The waiters' jargon fairly drove His appolite away. " Confound your dishes, cooked," said ho, On the Parisian plan I want a plate of pork an' beans-Je suis americain.

RUSSIA AND CHINA.

In several German military papers the consequences which a war against China would have on the military position of Russia in Europe are discussed, and it is stated that 'the alterations therein, produced by such a campaign would be considerable. The Russian forces are new, as is well known, divided into three separate armies-the European, the Caucasian, and the Asianc. The Caucasian army, consisting of 28 regiments of infantry, four battalions of dragoons, has been always regarded as the European army, which now consists of 164 regiments of foot, 56 regiments of cavalry, and six brigades of sharp shooters. The Asiatic army had until now only to defend the interest of the Russian Empire in Central Asia, and was, as has been stated by official reports, composed only of 29 line battalions, four battalions of sharpshooters, 11 garrison battalions, three brigades of field artillery, a battalien of foot artillery, and two companies of sappers and miners. To these troops can be added ten battalions of Cossack infantry, 11 Cossack batteries, and 47 regiments of irregular Cossack cavalry. The whole strength of this Asiatic army cap, therefore, be reckoned at between 60,000 and 70,000 men. These troops are garrison. ed over a very large expanse of territory, which they have to occupy for the purpose of holding the different wild tribes in check. Russia could employ only a very small portion of this army against a foreign foe, and it would be quite impossible for her to carry on a war against China with these Asiatic forces alone, all the less as China has a very respectable army at her disposition on the Russian frontier. The Caucasian army could then no more, at least for a long time, be regarded as the reserve forces of the European army, and the latter would, therefore, no longer be superior to the German army.

The Czar has taken the very unusua. step of writing an official farewell letter to Admiral Lessovsky, expressing a hope that the admiral will have occasion to distinguish himself in the Pacific. telegram from St. Petersburg states that in consequence of intelligence received from China, hopes are entertained that war has been finally averted.

THE OHINA REVIEW.

THE widely-expressed regret at the discontinuance of Notes & Queries on China and Japan, has induced the publishers of this journal to issue a publication similar in object and style, but slightly modified in certain details.

THE CHINA REVIEW, or Notes and Queries on the Far East, is issued at intervals of two months, each number containing about 60 octavo pages, occasionally illustrated with lithographs, photographs, woodcuts, &c., should the papers published demand, and the circulation justify, such extra matter.

The subscription is fixed at $6.50 postage paid, per annum, payable by non-residents in Hongkong half-yearly in advance.

The publication includes papers original and selected upon the Arts and Sciences, Ethnology, Folklore, Geography, History, Literature, Mythology, Manners and Cuatoms, Natural History, Religion, &c., &c., of China, Japan, Mongolia, Tibet, the Eastern Archipelego and the "Far East" generally. A more detailed list of subjects upon which contributions are especially invited is incorporated with each number. Original contributions in Chinese, Latin, French, German, Spanish, Italian or Portuguese, are admissible. Endoavours are made to present a resumd in each number of the contents of the most recent works bearing on Chinese matters. Ureat attention is also paid to the Review

Notes and Replies are classified together as "Notes" (head references being given, when furnished, to previous Notes or Queries), as are also those queries which though asking for information, furnish new or unpublished details concerning the matter in band. It is desirable to make the Queries proper as brief and as much to the point as possible.

The China Review for July and August, 1875, is at hand. It says that forty-two essays were sont in to compete for the best paper on the advantages of Christianity for the development of a State. All our learned societies should subscribe to this scholarly and enterprising Review. It is a sixty paged, bi-monthly, repertory of what scholars are ascertaining about China. The lecture on Chinese Poetry in this volume is alone worth the price of the Review. Ad- Alice dress China Review, Hongkoug. - Northern Christian Advocate (U.S.) Trubner's Oriental Record contains the tollowing notice of the China Review :- " This | Aur is the title of a publication, the first number | Bess of which has lately reached us from Hong. Bus kong, where it has been set on foot as in 'Cal some respects a continuation of Notes and | Cay Queries on China and Japan, the extinction Chi of which useful serial a year or two ago has Cha been much regretted in Europe as well as Chi In China. The present publication, judging Cin by the number now before us, is intended to | Cly occupy a position, as regards China and the Cor neighbouring countries, somewhat similar Em to that which has been filled in India by the | East Calcutta Review. The great degree of at- Fle tention that has been bestowed of late years | For upon the investigation of Chinese literature, (101 antiquities, and social developments, to say Ha nothing of linguistic studies, has led to the | Ha accumulation of important stores of inform- Ha ation, rendering some such channel of pub- He licity as is now provided extremely desirable; and contributions of much interest Jo may fairly be looked for from the members | K. of the foreign consular services, the Chinese | Liv Customs' corps, and the missionary body, Lu among whom a high degree of Uninese M. scholarship is now assiduously cultivated, Or and who are severally represented in the first | Us number of the Heview by papers highly Pr creditable to their respective authors. In Rap a paper on Dr. Legge's She King, by the Rosi Rev. E. J. Eitel, to which the place of | San honour is deservedly given, an excellent Sout summary is presented of the chronological Spar problems and arguments involved in con- Wes nexion with this important work Some Work translations from Chinese novels and plays are marked by both accuracy and freshness of style; and an account of the career of the Chinese poet-statesman of the eleventh century, Su Tung-p'o, by Mr. E. C. Bowra, is not only historically valuable, but is also distinguished by its literary grace. Beside notices of new books relating to China and the East, which will be a useful feature of the Review, if carried out with punctuality and detail, we are glad to notice that "Notes" and "Queries" are destined to find a place in its pages also. It is to be hoped that this opening for contributions on Chinese subjects may evoke a similar degree of literary zeal to that which was displayed during the lifetime of its predecensor in the field, and that the China Review may receive the support necessary to insure its continuance. The publication is intend ed to appear every two months, and will
